Hate icebreakers?

Instead of making people feel safe, icebreakers can sometimes cause stress or feel like a waste of time.

To address these concerns,
1. Be sure your icebreaker is well suited to your group.
2. Explain your reason for doing it.

Make meaningful discussions fun

Developed in conjunction with subject matter experts, the 32 prompts on each of these soft, 6” vinyl Thumballs will help draw out participants’ past experiences and encourage forward thinking. Players catch the ball and discuss the question under their thumb. Each includes facilitation tips.

Be a Leader: Explore leadership experiences and the qualities of a great leader
Onward & Upward: Focus on resilience, change and moving beyond current challenges toward future opportunities
Stress Management: Discover causes of stress and ways to effectively manage it
Team Dynamics: Discuss interactions that enhance or undermine your team’s success
Get Happy at Work: Focus on the positive – engagement, wishes, goals and accomplishments
Workplace Ethics: Understand what stands in the way of doing the right thing
Diversity: Share experiences of feeling excluded and explore ways to build community
Safety Toolbox Talks: Explore topics about workplace safety

See who’s learning what... and who’s not getting it!

Encourage participation with dry-erase Quick Response Whiteboards. They are a huge hit with students and educators, because every individual can write an answer, cast a vote, ask a question or offer an opinion. Whiteboards are two-sided and come in 2 sizes: 6” x 7¾” or super-sized 7¾” x 9¾”.

  - 25 @ $3.00 ea.  50 @ $2.75 ea.  100 @ $2.50 ea.
- #WBOD 12 Whiteboards & Erasers, boxed (red, blue and green handles) $44.50
- #WBHNB 30 Whiteboards & Erasers, plus Rack $112.95

Super-Sized Quick Response Boards

- #WBOL Individual Boards $4.00
- #WBOLSET 20 Whiteboards, Markers, Mini-Erasers and Tote $99.00

I used these when presenting a keynote to over 200 people at a conference. Rather than “lecturing” them for 90 minutes, we were able to interact and connect with “real-time” comments and feedback. It was fun and provided an unexpected enhancement and connection. I placed one whiteboard paddle with eraser and marker on each table, and it worked very well!

1 MATERIAL
What’s it made of?
Pick materials that are personally pleasing!
Firm, flexible, furry, hard, smooth, squishy – whatever floats your boat!

2 WHO
Kids? Adults?
Personal use?
Community use?
If you plan on sharing, choose fidgets that can be easily cleaned. Avoid putty, sand and clay.

3 MOTION
Do you like to twist, twirl, bend, flex or squeeze?
Become a master of movement with fidgets you can mold, manipulate, click, squeeze or rotate.

4 SIZE
Prefer pocket toys, one-handers or bigger handfuls?
Go incognito and hide your fidget in a pocket or under a desk. Or, engage more muscles with a chunkier choice.

5 EYE-CANDY
Are good looks a plus or distracting?
Colorful, eye-catching fidgets set a playful tone, but fidgets shouldn’t be too distracting or mesmerizing.

6 SOUND
Is silence golden or are simple sounds suitable?
Respect your environment and save loud fidgets for more boisterous settings.

7 COST
Buy a bunch at a low cost or choose one snazzy favorite!
Find fidgets for any budget. Low-cost fidgets are great giveaways. Spend more on therapeutic toys that won’t get lost!

8 DURABLE
Are users rough or gentle?
For fidgeters who put their toys to the test, avoid gel balls and other items that can be punctured or snapped.

9 WEIGHT
Need some heft or is lightweight better?
Heftier fidgets can feel more substantial and satisfying. Stay clear of flimsy fidgets.

10 FUN FACTOR
Focus on fun or function?
Sometimes you just want your fidget to make you smile.

Conduct quick review sessions
Genuine KOOSH™ make a splash in learning environments because they are so versatile:
• Great as fidget toys and stress relievers
• Toss around for quick Q&A sessions, or introductions and icebreakers
• Make sure one person speaks at a time (the one with the Koosh)

Koosh, 3" (Colors may vary)
#KOOSHM Individual $4.50 ea
#KOOSHB Bundle (10/set) $42.75

“Great for tossing and fiddling”
I use Koosh balls in a large group activity that includes a lot of tossing and catching. I also use them as a sort of “talking stick” in review sessions. ( Whoever is holding the ball has to try to answer a review question, but if they don’t know the answer they can toss to another person with a hand raised.)

Don’t Forget to DEBRIEF
Ask key questions to help your group process the learning experience. ASK:
What worked?
What happened?
How did you feel?
What would you change?
How can we apply what we learned to the real world?
Discover hidden assumptions

Raise awareness about preconceptions and assumptions as small groups work to assemble a seemingly simple jigsaw puzzle. They’ll likely start by turning all the pieces “face-up,” which is where the learning begins. Contains enough pieces for 4 small groups. Duration: ~10–20 minutes.

Challenging Assumptions
#GACHAL $259.00

Build critical communication and listening skills

In this terrific team activity, blindfolded participants hold a collection of colored plastic shapes. Groups must work together to identify the missing piece(s). Colourblind was developed for training Air Traffic Controllers where good communication is a matter of life or death. Success demands effective group management, listening and questioning, plus the ability to solicit and absorb feedback. For groups who have done this activity before, Colourblind Plus offers more challenging shapes. Duration: ~40 minutes.

Includes Facilitator guide and materials for groups of 4-28; RSVP Design.

A team experience as uplifting as helium!

This deceptively simple game is easy to facilitate and gives your group a common experience through which to discuss issues of teamwork and leadership. The stick is 10 feet long and folds up like a tent pole, so you can easily transport it. There’s no actual helium, but the stick is so light that when large teams try to lower it without losing finger contact, it unexpectedly seems to levitate. Facilitation notes available online.

#GAMEHLM $36.95

Spread your smile with a look in the mirror

Whether talking face-to-face or over the phone, smiling makes a big difference! Remind your group to communicate their positive energy through their voice. Karen Leland and Keith Bailey, authors of Customer Service for Dummies, say, “The reason [a smile works] is not psychological, but physiological. When you smile, the soft palate at the back of your mouth rises and makes your voice sound friendly, warm and receptive.”

Mirrors are backed with a gentle adhesive tab so they can be easily mounted and safely removed from a computer or wall.
